DAVID STEWART

David has spent his entire career working with Organisations and their Leadership Teams to pursue and implement a winning team mindset, authentic team cultures that are mission centred, and teams that are aligned, agile and adaptable to navigate an uncertain World. David's experience includes Business, Sport, Education, Not-For-Profit, and Government Agencies. He has worked globally with elite sporting teams and some of the biggest brands in the World, yet his messages and presentations are crisp, simple, and applicable to leaders of any team of any size.

David has an engaging delivery style, backed by years of experience where his knowledge and wisdom can shed light on a myriad of culture, leadership, motivation, and personal development topics. He provides practical tools and advice, and there is always a takeaway that can be implemented personally. He has authored several books, and has a vast array of guides, tools, frameworks, and methodologies for leaders to utilise and apply in their own setting.
